

DSWD DROMIC Report #8 on the Mayon Volcanic Activity as of 15 June 2023, 6PM

I. Situation Overview

- As of 15 June 2023 at 8AM, Alert Level 3 is maintained over Mayon Volcano, which means that it is currently in a relatively high level of unrest as magma is at the crater and hazardous eruption is possible within weeks or even days.
- In the past 24-hour period, the Mayon Volcano Network recorded two (2) volcanic earthquakes and three hundred six (306) rockfall events based on seismic and visual observations. Very slow effusion of lava from the summit crater emplaced lava flow and collapse debris on the Mi-isi (south) and Bonga (southeastern) gullies within approximately a kilometer from the crater. Three (3) dome-collapse pyroclastic density current (PDC) that lasted three (3) to six (6) minutes were also detected. Continuous moderate degassing from the summit crater produced steam-laden plumes that rose 700 m before drifting northwest. Fair crater glow or “banaag” and incandescent rockfall shed from fluidal lava at the summit of Mayon Volcano was observed. Sulfur dioxide (SO₂) emission averaged 193 tonnes/day on 14 June 2023. Short-term observations from EDM and electronic tiltmeter monitoring show the upper slopes to be inflating since February 2023. Longer-term ground deformation parameters based on EDM, precise leveling, continuous GPS, and electronic tilt monitoring indicate that Mayon is still inflated, especially on the northwest and southeast.
- It is therefore recommended that the 6-km radius Permanent Danger Zone (PDZ) be evacuated due to the danger of PDCs, lava flows, rockfalls and other volcanic hazards.
- Increased vigilance against pyroclastic density currents, lahars and sediment-laden streamflows along channels draining the edifice is also advised. Heavy rainfall could generate channel-confined lahars and sediment-laden streamflows in channels where PDC deposits were emplaced.
- Civil aviation authorities must also advise pilots to avoid flying close to the volcano’s summit as ash from any sudden eruption can be hazardous to aircraft. Based on the current prevailing wind pattern, ash fall events may most likely occur on the south side of the volcano.
