

DSWD DROMIC Preparedness for Response Report #1 on Typhoon “Jenny”

as of 02 October 2023, 6PM

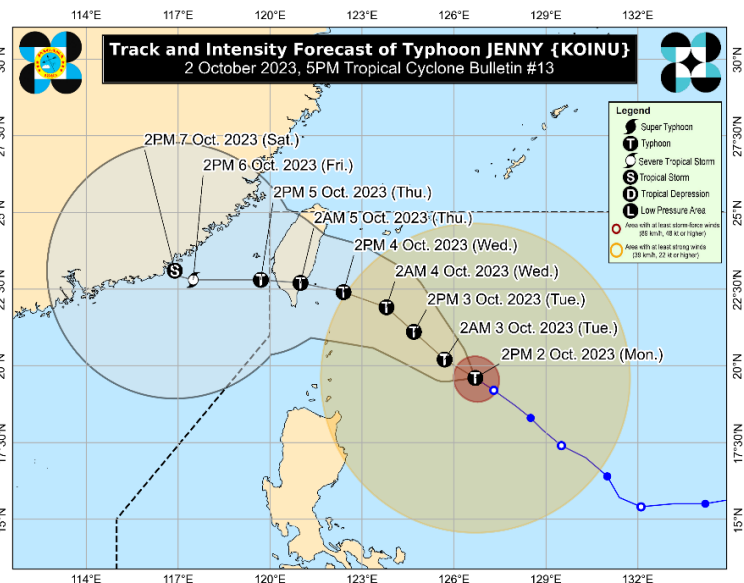

Situation Overview

Issued on 02 October 2023 at 5PM, “Jenny” steadily intensifies while moving Northwestward over the Philippine Sea.

HAZARDS AFFECTING LAND AREAS

Heavy Rainfall Outlook

- Forecast accumulated rainfall from today to tomorrow afternoon
 - 50-100mm: Batanes, Cagayan including Babuyan Islands, Ilocos Norte, Ilocos Sur, and Isabela.
- Forecast accumulated rainfall from tomorrow afternoon to Wednesday afternoon
 - 100-200 mm: Batanes
 - 50-100 mm: Babuyan Islands, Ilocos Norte, Ilocos Sur, and the northern portions of mainland Cagayan and Apayao.
- Forecast rainfall is generally higher in elevated or mountainous areas. Under these conditions, flooding and rain-induced landslides are possible, especially in areas that are highly or very highly susceptible to these hazards as identified in hazard maps and in localities that experienced considerable amounts of rainfall for the past several days.
- In addition, “Jenny” will continue to enhance the Southwest Monsoon and bring occasional to monsoon rains over the western portions of Central Luzon, Southern Luzon, Visayas, and Mindanao in the next 3 days. For more information, refer to Weather Advisory No. 4 for Southwest Monsoon issued at 11:00 AM today and 24-Hour Public Weather Forecast and Outlook at 4:00 PM today.

Severe Winds

The wind signals warn the public of the general wind threat over an area due to the tropical cyclone. Local winds may be slightly stronger/enhanced in coastal and upland/mountainous areas exposed to winds. Winds are less strong in areas sheltered from the prevailing wind direction.

- Minimal to minor impacts from strong winds are possible within any of the areas under Wind Signal No. 1.

The most likely highest Wind Signal that will be hoisted is Wind Signal No. 2, although the potential for Wind Signal No. 3 is not ruled out at this time.

The enhancement of the Southwest Monsoon by “Jenny” will bring gusty conditions for the next 3 days over the following areas not under any Wind Signal, especially in coastal and upland/mountainous areas exposed to winds:

- Minimal Today: Most of MIMAROPA, Western Visayas, and Bicol Region
- Tomorrow: Metro Manila, CALABARZON, MIMAROPA, Bicol Region, and Western Visayas
- Wednesday: Bataan, the southern portion of Aurora, Metro Manila, CALABARZON, the northern portion of Palawan including Calamian Islands, Romblon, Occidental Mindoro, and portions of Bicol Region

HAZARDS AFFECTING COASTAL WATERS

- Under the influence of “Jenny”, a Gale Warning is in effect for the coastal waters of the northern and eastern seaboard of Northern Luzon. For more information, refer to Gale Warning No. 3 issued at 5:00 PM today.
- In addition, “Jenny” will bring moderate to rough seas (2.0 to 4.0 m) over the coastal waters of Isabela. Mariners of motor bancas and similarly-sized vessels are advised to take precautionary measures while venturing out to sea and, if possible, avoid navigating in these conditions, especially if inexperienced or operating ill-equipped vessels.

TRACK AND INTENSITY OUTLOOK

- “Jenny” is forecast to move generally northwestward until Wednesday before turning west northwestward or westward thereafter. On the track forecast, “Jenny” will make landfall over the southern portion of Taiwan on Thursday morning then exit the Philippine Area of Responsibility (PAR) over the Taiwan Strait between Thursday afternoon.
- “Jenny” is forecast to steadily intensify throughout the forecast period and may reach its peak intensity tomorrow. A slightly weakening trend may begin by late-Wednesday due to a potential for dry air entrainment and increased wind shear prior to landfall over Taiwan.

The center of the eye of Typhoon “Jenny” was estimated based on all available data at 485 km East of Basco, Batanes (19.6°N, 126.5°E) and Moving Northwestward at 15 km/h with a maximum sustained winds of 155 km/h near the center and gustiness of up to 190 km/h.
