

DSWD DROMIC Preparedness for Response Report #2 on Typhoon “Jenny” as of 03 October 2023, 6PM

Situation Overview

Issued on 03 October 2023 at 5PM, “Jenny” maintains its strength as it moves North Northwestward over the Philippine Sea.

HAZARDS AFFECTING LAND AREAS

Heavy Rainfall Outlook

Forecast accumulated rainfall from today to tomorrow noon:

- 50-100 mm: Batanes and Babuyan Islands

Forecast accumulated rainfall from tomorrow noon to Thursday noon:

- 100-200 mm: Batanes
- 50-100 mm: Babuyan Islands and the northern portion of Ilocos Norte

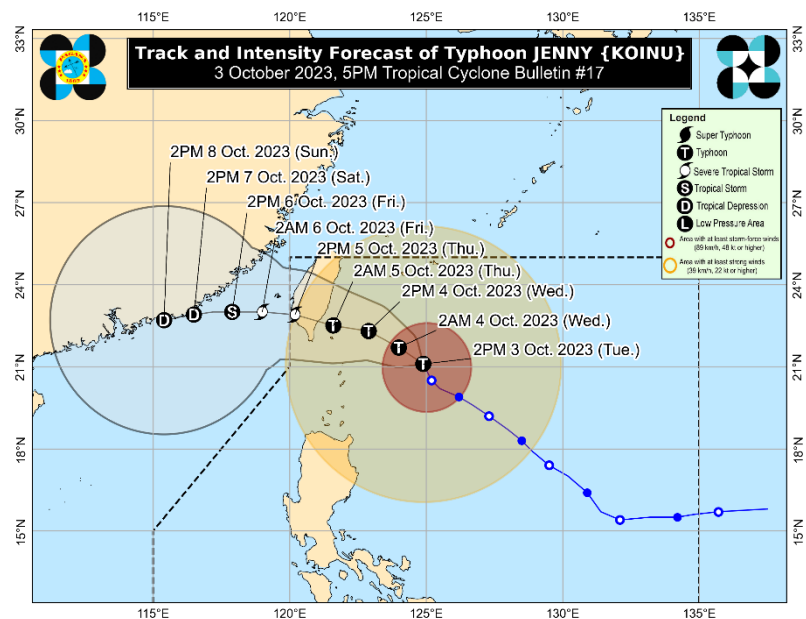

Forecast rainfall are generally higher in elevated or mountainous areas. Under these conditions, flooding and rain-induced landslides are possible especially in areas that are highly or very highly susceptible to these hazards as identified in hazard maps and in localities that experienced considerable amounts of rainfall for the past several days.

In addition, “Jenny” will continue to enhance the Southwest Monsoon and bring occasional rains over the western portions of Central Luzon, Southern Luzon, and Visayas in the next 3 days. For more information, refer to Weather Advisory No. 6 for Southwest Monsoon issued at 11:00 AM today and 24-Hour Public Weather Forecast and Outlook at 4:00 PM today.

Severe Winds

The wind signals warn the public of the general wind threat over an area due to the tropical cyclone. Local winds may be slightly stronger/enhanced in coastal and upland/mountainous areas exposed to winds. Winds are less strong in areas sheltered from the prevailing wind direction.

- Minor to moderate impacts from gale-force winds are possible within any of the areas under Wind Signal No. 2.
- Minimal to minor impacts from strong winds are possible within any of the areas under Wind Signal No. 1.

The most likely highest Wind Signal that will be hoisted is Wind Signal No. 3.

The enhancement of the Southwest Monsoon by “Jenny” will bring gusty conditions for the next 3 days over the following areas not under any Wind Signal, especially in coastal and upland/mountainous areas exposed to winds:

- Today: Aurora, Bataan, Bulacan, Metro Manila, CALABARZON, Bicol Region, and most of MIMAROPA and Western Visayas.
- Tomorrow: Bataan, the southern portion of Aurora, Metro Manila, CALABARZON, Romblon, and most of Bicol Region.
- Thursday: Romblon and portions of CALABARZON and Bicol Region.

HAZARDS AFFECTING COASTAL WATERS

- Under the influence of “Jenny”, a Gale Warning is in effect for the coastal waters along the seaboard of Northern Luzon. For more information, refer to Gale Warning No. 5 issued at 5:00 PM today.
- “Jenny” will also bring moderate to rough seas (1.5 to 3.5 m) over the coastal waters of northern Aurora. Mariners of motor bancas and similarly-sized vessels are advised to take precautionary measures while venturing out to sea and, if possible, avoid navigating in these conditions, especially if inexperienced or operating ill-equipped vessels.

TRACK AND INTENSITY OUTLOOK

- “Jenny” is forecast to move northwestward or west northwestward until tomorrow before turning generally westward thereafter. On the track forecast, “Jenny” will make landfall over the southern portion of Taiwan between tomorrow late evening or Thursday morning then exit the Philippine Area of Responsibility (PAR) between Thursday morning and afternoon. Outside the PAR region, “Jenny” will continue moving westward slowly over the Taiwan Strait towards the coastal waters of southern China.
- The weakening trend continues due to the increasing dry air entrainment and vertical wind shear. Land interaction during its passage over the rugged terrain of southern Taiwan will further weaken the tropical cyclone. Once over the Taiwan Strait, additional cool dry air from the north will entrain into “Jenny”, resulting in further weakening.

The center of the eye of Typhoon “Jenny” was estimated based on all available data at 325 km East Northeast of Basco, Batanes (21.4 °N, 124.9 °E) moving North Northwestward at 10 km/h with maximum sustained winds of 155 km/h near the center and gustiness of up to 190 km/h.
